A YOUNG WOMAN'S CHANCE IN HAWAII

(By Elinor A. Langton in Paradise of the Pacific.)

In the May number of the previous volume of the Paradise of the Pacific the writer essayed to set forth the young man's chances in Hawaii, knowing through acquaintance with the business men of Honolulu, many of the opportunities that a young man coming from abroad may secure in this Territory. As in all western or frontier towns the young men are more numerous than the young women and, while they are better able than their sisters and their cousins and their aunts to buffet adverse fortune and win a living, they also find their chances much improved over the conditions in the east. The young woman who has to earn her livelihood has an advantage over the young man in many lines of industrial endeavor in a city like Honolulu. There are a score or more of occupations in which she is preferred because, by the innate nature of her sex, she is modest and courteous in her deportment, qualifications that go far in making the desirable employee. She is punctual in her morning attendance at office, store or shop, and, in the matter of integrity, which concerns a wage-worker more than anything else, she has a sense of honor that is finer than a man's. The scope of women's employment in Honolulu is best shown by the following table, which states the number of Caucasians and Hawaiians in each class of occupation now working for wages. Most of them are young and unmarried:

School Teachers	182
Kindergarten Teachers	10
Saleswomen	62
Dressmakers and Milliners	56
Professional Nurses	42
Florists	40
Stenographers and Typewriters	38
Telephone Operators	34
Laundresses	31
Boarding and Lodging-House proprietresses	28
Matrons	28
Cashiers and Bookkeepers	24
Bookbinders and Folders	21
Music Teachers	12
Storekeepers	11
Librarians	6
Salvation Army	5
City Missionaries	4
Physicians	4
Artists	4
Lacemakers	4
Bakers	4
Hairdressers	4
Organists	3
Newspapers Publishers	2
Teachers of Elocution	2
Governesses	2
Dancing Teacher	1

The school teachers easily head the list. The majority come from the mainland and not only find the pay better and the hours shorter than in their former home, but they draw their salaries for every month of the year, irrespective of weekly and monthly vacations. The saleswomen, who number 62, form a large class in a strictly mercantile line. Coming after them in point of number, are the dressmakers and milliners, the followers of woman's own calling, though their field is largely invaded by Chinamen, who catering to ordinary wants, in which particular styles are not required, divert a great deal of dressmaking work their way. There are 42 nurses in Honolulu. Of all oc-should know. The troubles with multitudes of girls is a want of proper nourishment and enough of it. Now-a-days they call this condition by the learned name of Anemia. But words change no facts. There are thousands of girls of this kind anywhere between childhood and young ladyhood. Disease finds most of its victims among them. Some of them are passing through the mysterious changes which lead up to maturity and need especial watchfulness and care. Alas, how many break down at this critical period; the story of such losses is the saddest in the history of home. The proper treatment might have saved most of these household treasures, if the mothers had only known of WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION and given it to their daughters, they would have grown to be strong and healthy women. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In building up pale, puny, emaciated children, particularly those troubled with Anemia, Scrofula, Rickets, and Bone and Blood diseases, nothing equals it; its tonic qualities are of the highest order. A Medical Institution says: "We have used your preparation in treating children for coughs, colds and inflammation; its application has never failed us in any case, even the most aggravated bordering on pneumonia." The more it is used the less will be the ravages of disease from infancy to old age. It is both a food and a medicine,—modern, scientific, effective from the first dose, and never deceives or disappoints. "There is no doubt about it." Sold by all chemists here and throughout the world.

MOTHERS

cupations woman excels in caring for the sick. In the hospital as well as in the home it is the gentle touch, the uncomplaining attendance, the soft voice and the comforting presence of a woman trained in the duties of ministering to the sick that assists recovery as much as medicine. The nurse who has steady employment makes a good deal of money, but she is never overpaid. Many of the florists are Hawaiians, who cultivate their flowers in Nuuanu Valley, fashion them into wreaths and bouquets and sell them on the sidewalks of Hotel Street. They conduct a lucrative business in a community where the custom of wedding, reception and dinner functions demands liberal decorations. Upon the departure of voyagers to the mainland, the Colonies or the Orient a great quantity is always required for offerings to friends. Besides the native women, who are very industrious in this trade, there are white women who grow the choicer varieties of flowers and sell them at their gardens or in stores. Plants of different kinds are involved in their business. Stenographers and typewriters in Honolulu as elsewhere see their ranks growing constantly. The commercial class are always seeking them and the demand is never supplied. Remuneration ranges from $50 to $150 per month, the lady who is expert in taking short-hand notes and transcribing by the machine receiving the maximum figure. It is a nerve-racking, monotonous task in most any office; the hours are from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., excepting the luncheon hour, and when the whistle sounds a surcease of toil the poor girl is as tired as the chief clerk or manager who has been dictating dreary business letters. The telephone operators must give their undivided attention to their work, refrain from noticing impertinent remarks of subscribers and be satisfied with nominal wages. Twenty-eight women earn their living by conducting boarding and lodging-houses, where homes are made for quite a number of mechanics and clerks. The several boarding-schools, hospitals and charitable institutions have their domestic departments cared for by 28 matrons, who have much responsibility in exercising their duties. In the publishing establishments there are 21 Portuguese and Hawaiian girls doing book-binding and folding. They are well accomplished in their trade. Bookkeeping and the custody of store receipts are trusts in which 24 bright young women are engaged. There is always a call for more in this profession. There are laundries and laundries and the best kind are those where the work is not done by Chinamen. In all this community of 45,000 people there are only 31 women, Europeans and Hawaiians, who wash clothes for a living. They get the cream of the trade, to be sure, and probably do not solicit the hard washing of general households. After all, washing and ironing clothes is not properly a woman's work. Masculine muscle is the real thing needed, just as much as in scrubbing floors. A few women with an inclination for trade have established stores, where light wares such as Hawaiian curios, fancy goods, confectionery and groceries are sold. In this country of sunshine, rain-bows and flowers, soft atmosphere, grand mountains and seascapes and glorious moonlight nights it is no wonder that Euterpe has many votaries. It is the land of music, where almost every household has a piano, mandolin, guitar or violin. The culture of the art is general and 12 ladies find all they can do in giving vocal and instrumental instruction. Half a dozen librarians are engaged in the several public and private libraries. The Salvation Army has been camping in Honolulu 12 years and always had about five women in its ranks. Every one knows that the life of this organization rests largely in these lovable, Christian women, whose singing draws people to its meetings in street and hall and whose ministrations among the poor and lowly do the real good work which the Army was originally instituted. Physicians, artists, lacemakers, bakers, hairdressers, organists and others make the few remaining members of the working class.

There is an exception, however, to the last statement. Every housekeeper knows that quite a number of Portuguese and Hawaiian girls make their living in the domestic service, though what that number is it is extremely difficult to determine. Perhaps there are 200, not enough by far to go around among all the families in the city. Kitchen and general house work is largely performed by Chinamen and Japanese men and women. Some of these can cook and most of them cannot. The lady of the house, if she is particular about her table, often goes into the kitchen and oversees things there herself unless she can afford to pay a first class Chinese steward $6 a week. If this luxury is beyond her means and her culinary education has been neglected she is to be pitied. Some American ladies who are not even satisfied with the best Chinese talent have been heard to exclaim, "O, for some trustworthy German, Irish or Swedish girl!" But the intelligent white girl entertains a false notion that she is placed on a social plane with Oriental domestics if she does the same work they do. This presumption is hard to eradicate. It is a pity that such a respectable calling as cooking, washing and keeping the home in order should be called a menial one and avoided by the masses of young women who are obliged to labor for living. Perhaps the mistresses, who are sometimes tyrannical and overbearing, are responsible for the ill-favored reputation of this service.

Woman's field is enlarging. The labors in which she can make herself useful are such additional lines of profit as linotype operating, conducting restaurants, poultry raising, cultivating the vanilla plant and following various other kinds of light agriculture suitable to a tropical climate. There is not that strict demarcation of caste that prevails in other cities. Department goes the longest way towards gaining social recognition and the working girl of whatever employment may have no misgiving regarding entrance to a respectable station. If she is independent by her ability to make her own living and is pretty, witty and a tasteful dresser, and chooses to move in the fashionable set to which most young ladies aspire, no occupation of mind or hand will be a barrier to keep her out of the swim—not in Honolulu. The profession of medicine offers great encouragement. Law and theology are generally regarded to be outside her sphere, not that virile acumen is essential for those professions, but that the rule of custom has set those dignified vocations apart for the men. A girl or woman who must venture upon "the world's broad field of battle" can come to Hawaii with as much faith in getting a living as she would have in going to any other locality. Here she works in a healthful atmosphere, the doors and windows of schools, offices, stores and shops being kept open the year round. She has abundant time for her games and her books. She may attach herself to good social clubs and many Christian homes are open to her.
